Carrie Blast Furnaces 6 and 7 were designated as National Historic Landmarks in 2008. They are extremely rare examples of pre World War II iron-making technology. Since the collapse of the region's steel industry in the 1970s, these are the only non-operative blast furnaces remaining in the Pittsburgh District. Visitors will be led by guided tour on a series of walkways around this industrial giant to hear and see up close the furnaces that helped set world records in the production of iron. For more information regarding the facility, visit www.riversofsteel.com.

Event will commence with lunch & historian remarks at the Pump House, followed by shuttle service to / from the Carrie Blast Furnaces. Tour content is recommended for ages 8+. Comfortable walking shoes are recommended along with appropriate weather dress as most of the tour is outdoors. Parking is free.

Admission details will be provided in advance to registered guests late-September. We hope you can join us!
